CLOTHING OUR KIDS (COK) APPRECIATES THE CONTINUING EFFORT OF GEORGETOWN LIBRARY TO CLOTHE THE SUSSEX COUNTY SCHOOL KIDS IN NEED

As is their yearly tradition, Georgetown Library held another clothing drive from October through November to benefit the Sussex County school kids in need through COK. By the end of October, the library had only received two sets of pajamas. When President of Draper Media and friend of COK Craig Jahelka heard this, he went into action ensuring the drive received publicity through five interviews with COK Volunteers Diane Poletti and Monica Anthenelli. Draper Media's DelmarvaLife took an extra step and pulled from their archives a previous interview with Mary Rio and Kim Plum. Through that broadcast, supporters of COK learned about the need, and the clothing drive was successful in obtaining high-demand hoodies, pajamas and sneakers. A big thanks to our three Special Events Volunteers Wendy O'Brien, Karen Steifel, and Virginia Moscowitz for collecting those items.

This drive demonstrates that it truly takes a community to ensure at risk Head Start, Elementary and Middle School children are properly clothed in order to improve their lives and provide them with an equal start in their education!
